Consent to Receive Acupuncture

Acupuncture is a healing art that stimulates specific points on the body to treat diseases or relieve pain. Stimulation may be produced by needles, heat, digital pressure and electrical currents, etc., but most frequently in the form of needling. In rare incidents, patient may experience certain side effects or reactions including fainting, bleedings, pneumothorax, puncturing of viscera, broken needles and other hazards associated with the treatment procedures. Although acupuncture has been used in Eastern and European countries as an authentic therapeutic modality, it is still considered experimental in the United States, implying there may be unknown risk factors involved.

I have read the above regarding the potential hazards of acupuncture treatment, and I understand that no guarantee of results has been made. I consent to such treatment and release the Institute for Health and Healing and its practitioners from any and all claims of damages for any injury which may result from the treatment.
